My apologies to those whose notices I have had to change to fit these pages: I usually don't make such drastic changes to the size and shape of any that are sent in, but this month they didn't seem to tessellate at all well. It is great to receive an attractive display to simply drop in, but a bit of a nightmare dealing with several in random sizes. Pdfs are wonderful if they're the right size, but not very convenient if the size/shape needs changing, and the text becomes illegible.

For ready prepared, illustrated notices, could we possibly stick to a half A5 size (either portrait, 6 x 17 cm, or landscape, 13 x 8.5 cm), where possible, please?

Deadline!

May I have all items for November by 23rd OCTOBER please.

EATON PARISH COUNCIL

Clerk: Terry Brown, 189 Belton Lane, Grantham, NG31 9PL
 Tel: 01476 516366 Email: clerk@eatonpc.org.uk

OCTOBER 2023 NEWS

The next meeting of Eaton Parish Council
Monday, 13th November

to be followed by a last meeting in 2023 on Monday, 11th December, and, as always, members of the public are very welcome.

The Parish Council continues with its ambition to make the Parish a tidier and safer place - and now the raised path along Church Lane in Eaton has had some long required attention to provide a safer passageway.

Parish Councillors would welcome any similar ideas from parishioners.

Before

After

At the September meeting there were a number of complaints raised about bonfires and some inconsiderate control of dogs. Rather than resort to official sanctions, can we all attempt to be considerate neighbours, always mindful of the consequences of one's actions on others.

Letter from the Rector

The ebb tide of faith ...?

Dear friends,

I'm writing this article just after returning from a fortnight in the West country. Mary and I have enjoyed the time we've spent at the seaside, including the opportunity to do some bodyboarding at Bude in Cornwall.

When planning a surfing excursion, one of the things we had to be aware of was the daily tide times, so that we could work out when it was best to go into the sea. Catching a good wave on an incoming tide was especially satisfying as it carried us further, sometimes until we reached the sandy shore.

The ebb and flow of the sea has often been used as a picture of the journey of faith. Back in the 19th century, the poet Matthew Arnold wrote: "The sea of faith was once, too, at the full ... but now I only hear its melancholy, long, withdrawing roar". It is widely agreed that Christianity in the West now finds itself caught in a strong ebb tide. Most of the statistical indicators suggest that the Church in our nation has become more marginal to the mainstream culture than it once was, and fewer people - less than half - now self-identify as being Christian.

On a bad day, this can seem rather depressing. Then I need to keep reminding myself that, just as tides ebb, so they also flow. However, the tide of Christian faith will not start to flow again by the Church's attempts to be trendy or entertaining. Nor will it do so by any structural reorganisation for mission - and, at the risk of not being seen as 'on message', this also includes our Minister Communities in the Diocese of Leicester.

In their recent book When the Church Stops Working, the theologians Andrew Root and Blair Bertrand write: "The treatment plan commonly prescribed - effective innovation - will only cause your church to remain sick ... The problem is not decline. The problem is that the secular age has infected it".

If we believe that the Christian faith has something life-changing and wonderful to offer, good news for all - a growing relationship with God through Jesus Christ, rather than a legalistic religion to burden us - then we need to trust God.

As Andrew Root suggested in his book, we need to "Do less, and know God better". And the funny thing is, when we do that, the tide does often turn.

With all good wishes,

(John Barr, Rector)

Some of you will know that our daughter Gillian has been diagnosed with, and is being treated for, Cholangiocarcinoma, cancer of the bile duct in the liver. This is a rare illness and is difficult to treat. Gill has two daughters, aged five and three, and is working with University College Hospital London on trials for the development of more focussed medication as an alternative to the chemotherapy she is currently subject to. You may also be aware that I have recently been hospitalised with a liver illness from which I am recovering.

The national organisation, British Liver Trust, has designated October as Liver Cancer Awareness Month with a series of coffee mornings to raise public awareness of liver disease and to remove the stigma that liver disorders are largely self-inflicted.

As October includes half-term Marion and I are holding a fund-raising coffee morning in Eastwell Village Hall on Sunday, 5th November between 10.00 am and 12.30 pm. We would like to see as many of you as are able to attend to help us with our fund-raising efforts. There will not be a charge, though donations will be welcome.

Regards,

John Wood, honorary Secretary
